

Mark Beresford, MBA, PMP, CBAP

Mark Beresford, is the Managing Director of Innova Solutions, Inc., a project management and human capital consulting company based in Tokyo, Japan. He has spent the past 13 years helping Japanese (and foreign) companies and project teams to successfully cross borders and cultures.

He has worked with clients in many different industries to develop innovative solutions to global business challenges, including ICT, engineering, pharmaceutical, construction, banking and automotive. He has also designed and delivered training programs in global leadership, project planning, risk management, team building, intercultural communication, project management and business analysis.

Before starting his consulting practice, he worked as a project manager on architecture and construction projects located all over Europe, North America and Asia. Prior to that, he worked as a consultant for Northern Telecom on large ICT projects.

With over 20 years of global project management experience, he can share many of his lessons learned on the subject of leading global projects.

He is a regular speaker at the PMIJ (Project Management Institute of Japan) on the subject of managing global projects.

He is certified as a Project Management Professional (PMP) and Certified Business Analysis Professional (CBAP). He also earned a certificate in Project Planning and MS Project from the University of British Columbia, Canada and an MBA from McGill University with a concentration in Global Strategy and Leadership.
